

The current system used in Wisconsin for the do not call list has given me back the right to prevent the invasion of my privacy at home. Any changes to the current system would diminish my rights to privacy. If I want to do business with a previous banking institution, I will contact them.